

Jigsaw Grouping

Jigsaw Grouping is a flexible method to conduct group work and can support group movement within other cooperative learning activities.

Form groups of no less than three students and have students number off. You will determine when to make new groups.

Students with the same number form a new group. You can then determine when students move back to their original group.